By Silver Lining Villages

Silvy Desert Camel empowers veterans to become champions for sustainable farming in Georgia. Underserved Georgia residents can learn to become productive farmers to feed themselves and their communities.

Food Desert in Georgia

Food deserts are neighborhoods and rural areas with no access to fresh and affordable foods. Residents in these areas rely on convenience stores and fast food restaurants, which contribute to long term health problems such as obesity, diabetes, and cardiovascular diseases.

Atlanta is the third most severe urban food desert in the nation<sup>3</sup>

Veterans Poverty in Numbers

1.4 million Veterans live in poverty, and still on the rise<sup>5</sup>
1,800 Georgia Veterans are homeless <sup>6</sup>

Silver Lining Villages' Mission

Twenty two Veterans and 1 active duty soldier commit suicide every day<sup>9</sup>. That is over 8,000 suicides per year. Our mission is provide constructive interventions for Veteran's in negative circumstances. Life Skills Academy's mission is to serve displaced, overwhelmed Veterans, active duty military servicemen/women and their families, to provide them with alternative techniques and practices to deal with post traumatic stress, military sexual trauma, homelessness and joblessness. It is upon these premises that our life skills academy is built.

Silvy Food Desert Camel Goals

A primary goal of the Silvy program is to support active duty military families who rely on SNAP, through agricultural education. Additionally, the program aims to provide training through partnerships with agricultural training centers leading to jobs for displaced Veterans. They would subsequently become evangelists of self-sustainable agricultural practices to eradicate food insecurity. On-going revenue from the rental of the mobile kitchens during non-teaching hours would support the program in the future.

Target

Our target is to hire and train 15 to 30 veterans over a 3-year period to practice and teach practical urban agriculture techniques and management of certified naturally grown farms and greenhouses. Their efforts will mitigate the damaging effects of food insecurity in our target communities within metro Atlanta.
